SPOT MUSIC PRODUCTION STUDIO

Sound and music – this is the last step to be taken on the way to the perfect audiovisual project. We know how important it is for the final product, which is why we try to fascinate each client with our love for the perfect and unique sound. It is already at the stage of initial works that we discuss with the director the vision of the sound design, looking for a unique expression. So that the end result enchants not only audience but also the creators themselves.

Modern technology and safety – these are the two elements that also certify our success. In addition, our own library of effects, of lectors, a music library, 5.1 control rooms and a cinema room – creating the original top-class sound is our main and only goal.

But Studio SPOT primarily stands for talented and friendly people. Each of us deals with our field of sound post production with full professionalism and passion, and close cooperation allows us to stay in constant contact at every stage of work. It is also thanks to this that the final sound which we prepare for the projects entrusted to us is so coherent and full of inner expression.
